As part of the ESMRMB conference, the CRMBM-CEMEREM laboratory would like to organize a satellite event to facilitate international and intergenerational exchanges, with a historical discovery tour around the conference venue, ending with a gathering and aperitif. Having noted during the last European conference that exchanges remained national, this event will aim to break down national and hierarchical barriers by forming teams made up of people from different laboratories and opening it up to all participants. It will also be an event centered around MRI and the history of the CRMBM laboratory, which is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year, enabling participants to increase their general knowledge in the field, while at the same time becoming part of the local community. Mini-games and riddles about MRI will be on offer. Up to 200 people will be able to register for this event, which will be held strategically at the start of the conference to create links that will endure or evolve during the various conference sessions, and facilitate informal scientific exchanges.
